

Sew Much to Give

Community Sewing Project

Bugembe, Uganda, January 2021

3 sewing machines have been purchased through generous donations and continue to be used to teach young women and girls to sew. This is especially important now as the political unrest continues during the Ugandan presidential election. The children are still not back to school. Here we see Christine, a local tailor who is teaching the skills at Praise Fellowship Christina Centre in Bugembe.

On the left, Pastor Sharon provides counsel to Jackie who is 17, about menstrual health and hygiene and staying safe. This support has help many girls in the area from becoming pregnant at an early age. There are currently 20 girls participating in this project.

To help support this project – please visit www.chfu.org and donate to International Sewing Communities for Women’s Health